

TRICKS TO GET CASH

How the Housewife Manages to Get Small Change.

BORROWS OF THE TRADESMAN

Miss Forget to Make Allowance for the Necessary Needs of Wives and Children.

A few days since, the wife of a wealthy man went into a grocery store where most of the provisions for the house were bought. She went in considerable haste to the proprietor and asked him to loan her a dollar. Her husband, she said, had gone down town and forgotten to leave her any change and she must have a little immediately. She took the bill, rolled it up and put it into her glove, then in an undertone said: "Please however she may appreciate it at the beginning. In other cases, it is adding difficulty to the man's burden; he ought to have a few home cares to bear as possible. Of course, in emergencies, his masculine strength of will and presumably his superior judgment are always there for the wife to fall back upon, but in the ordinary routine of daily life we strongly advise our married girls to set themselves resolutely to manage their own difficulties.

Pretty Checks.

Surely they are a rare finishing touch, an otherwise handsome face being often spoiled by high check-lines and thin or fussy cheeks. The high cheek-lines can scarcely be softened unless the checks are made firm and plump. Contributions in the mouth for filling out the checks have been recommended, but scarcely without great discomfort; and the only reasonable way to accomplish the desired result is to take on more flesh and to study carefully the dressing of the hair.

In some instances, however, there will be a superiority of flesh where it is not wanted, while the checks persist in remaining thin. A firm, round check, with a slight dimple showing with every smile, is a most attractive charm. The sister of a young gentleman who had a pencil accidentally thrust through one

It shuts out all possible harm and danger; all things washed with Pearline last longer than if washed with soap. Everything is done better with it. Great-Great-Grandma's Beauty.

The Newcastle Daily Leader has been telling its readers how the eighteenth century belles became beautiful. They slept with their hands in chicken skin gloves to give the skin delicacy and grace, gave them a cent of money for their own use. They will pay any reasonable bill and many unreasonable ones, but they pay them in checks, and overlook the bills themselves; then they fancy they know what becomes of the money. Such conduct is unwise. If there is anything in the world that has a tendency to drive a woman to an inferior position, it is such lack of consideration on the part of her husband or father.

A wise way is to make a regular allowance for each member of the family. If it must be very small, make it all the same. Hold the receiver accountable for it and demand a showing of results. Restrict it to certain limits, if necessary, but let all persons have their own way of using their own allowance.—New York Ledger.

Whisper to Wedded Girls.

English ways are not American ways, but our American girls may not be averse to seeing what kind of advice an English paper gives to newly wedded girls. It is as follows:

It is a great mistake for a wife to be always full of her own little concerns to the exclusion of her husband's; to make it evident to him that she thinks her husband might not like it if I borrowed money." The man said: "Certainly" and the woman went out. A customer who was standing at a little distance, but who was concealed from the lady by a pile of tea-chests, smiled to himself and then smiled at the grocer who came back to finish filling his order.

Although the grocer said nothing, it was a well understood fact to that customer, as it is to many other people in large cities, that this is not an uncommon practice. Men who are liberal with their families, as far as food and clothes go, rarely give them a cent of money for their own use. They will pay any reasonable bill and many unreasonable ones, but they pay them in checks, and overlook the bills themselves; then they fancy they know what becomes of the money. Such conduct is unwise.
